On-the-Job Training and Supportive Services Program*

Q1. We have created the foundation of an intensive program for the trucking industry that contains similar elements to this program, however, it is designed as both an eLearning and instructor-led project. Would an eLearning company be considered for this opportunity?

There is no mention of eLearning as a disqualifier, or as a required element, so the decision as to whether your foundation will be a good candidate to apply will be up to you.
